New Physiological Measurement Editor-in-Chief

IPEM's international journal Physiological Measurement welcomes a new Editor-in-Chief in the New Year. Professor Xiao Hu, Professor of Physiological Nursing at the University of California San Francisco, takes up the post in January at the same time as he moves to Duke University in North Carolina.

We would like to thank outgoing Editor-in-Chief Professor Randall Moorman, Professor of Medicine, Molecular Physiology and Biological Physics & Biomedical Engineering at the University of Virginia, as he steps down after six years in charge.
