Making the most out of your IPEM Community:

To help you make the most of this we have summarised some key information:

(PEM) Communities	What does it do? The Communities platform combines the benefits of a mailbase, a networking platform and a resource library enabling professional collaboration, discussion and sharing documents.
	What happens next?
Q.7	If someone in your community creates a post you receive this via email.
\ \\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\\	If you see a thread that is of interest or you have a question please don't hesitate to join in. It is trusted space for all professional to participate in.
	How do I reply to a post via the email notification?
	Look at the email you received from the community and find the Reply to group box and click — this reaches the whole community.
0	Can I just reply to the sender?
(S	Yes, just click the Reply to Sender instead – this will send a direct email to the person who
- 11	posted the message.
	How do I create a new post / thread?
	Every email notification you receive has an option at the top (underneath the title) to Post
4	a new message to the group via email. Every community has its own email address and you can just type that into your email server, add a message like a normal email and send it. See the list of communities and emails here
	How do I add a document to the library?
	For security reason this action does require you to log in. Find your community and to go the library tab. Click on "Create a new library entry". The community will be notified.
Q P p	the library tab. Click on "Create a new library entry". The community will be notified. So what other communities can I join?
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see.
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there?
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion.
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion. What are my log in details?
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion.
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion. What are my log in details? It is the same as the IPEM website. Once you are on the COI site click on the Sign In
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion. What are my log in details? It is the same as the IPEM website. Once you are on the COI site click on the Sign In button on the top and if you are already logged in on the IPEM website you can enter the
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion. What are my log in details? It is the same as the IPEM website. Once you are on the COI site click on the Sign In button on the top and if you are already logged in on the IPEM website you can enter the platform straight away. Do I have a profile on the platform? You already have a basic profile on the platform which links to our member database but
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion. What are my log in details? It is the same as the IPEM website. Once you are on the COI site click on the Sign In button on the top and if you are already logged in on the IPEM website you can enter the platform straight away. Do I have a profile on the platform? You already have a basic profile on the platform which links to our member database but you can update it, e.g. by adding a picture. When you are logged in just go to the account
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion. What are my log in details? It is the same as the IPEM website. Once you are on the COI site click on the Sign In button on the top and if you are already logged in on the IPEM website you can enter the platform straight away. Do I have a profile on the platform? You already have a basic profile on the platform which links to our member database but you can update it, e.g. by adding a picture. When you are logged in just go to the account icon at the top and click Profile
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion. What are my log in details? It is the same as the IPEM website. Once you are on the COI site click on the Sign In button on the top and if you are already logged in on the IPEM website you can enter the platform straight away. Do I have a profile on the platform? You already have a basic profile on the platform which links to our member database but you can update it, e.g. by adding a picture. When you are logged in just go to the account icon at the top and click Profile Still not sure?
	So what other communities can I join? We have automatically added you to those communities that correspond with the interests you indicated on your membership form but you can join most communities from the list you see. What sort of communities are there? Our key communities are linked to our professional networks and Special Interest groups and we would recommend joining them. Others include Early careers and interests like environmental sustainability, diversity & inclusion. What are my log in details? It is the same as the IPEM website. Once you are on the COI site click on the Sign In button on the top and if you are already logged in on the IPEM website you can enter the platform straight away. Do I have a profile on the platform? You already have a basic profile on the platform which links to our member database but you can update it, e.g. by adding a picture. When you are logged in just go to the account icon at the top and click Profile